The Notorious Dorris Man-sion Burned This Morning.

Several of the Inmates Rescued by Means of Ladders.

A Fire Which Started Mysteriously and Which Nearly Ended in a Holocaust—Narrow Escape of the Young Family—History of the Building and of the Murder Which Made It Notorious—The Home of an Ill-Fated Family.

T HE Dorris Mansion, a notorious resort located on the Olive street road and King's highway, was totally destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The fire began about 4:30 o'clock, and is supposed to have originated from coals which fell from an overburdened grate on to the floor of the east side parlor. This is however, a supposition, nothing positive is known. This theory is advanced on the statements of C. Bauer, a saloon-keeper, whose place is on the southeast corner of the Olive street road and King's highway, and who was the first person to discover the fire. Shortly after 4 o'clock Mr. Bauer says he came down stairs and then we succeeded in reaching a window where the firemen had placed a ladder. By that time the smoke was very thick.

"There were but two escapes, both leading down to Gorseine court; one was completely closed, the other partially open on one side, and its uselessness was made almost complete by the shutters which closed over it. I don't know if the fire was started between the rooms or if the shutters were open, but it is in such a manner that a man would be unable to get out."

UNABLE TO REACH IT.—There were but two exits on this escape, and that it was impossible to secure a footing upon it. Directly below it was a hole several feet square, through which the smoke was visible. The hole was open, and the flames were bursting through it. If we descended the fire-escape and took the steps, we could get out of the flames. The basement was two stories high, and the stairs led down to the court, and from the end of the fire-escape was a drop of three stories to the bottom of the building. EXPLANATION WANTED.

IT WAS NOT THE INCREASED COLORED VOTE THAT DID IT.

The Total Registration of Negroes Only 5,000—An Answer to the Claims That 15,000 Colored Voters Caused the Democratic Defeat on the 6th Inst.—To-Night's Parade—Local Politics.

DEMOCRATIC managers and city committee men who did not participate in the Koster's Hotel caucus and have felt guilty enough to undertake to explain the causes leading up to the catastrophe of the 6th inst. have said it all. The League has been repeatedly said that 15,000 negroes had been registered by the Republican managers. This was advanced as an explanation for the 6,000 majority. The fact that the Republicans were thoroughly organized, that no scandalous caucuses nor bootie stories were circulated concerning the make-up of the Republican city ticket, was not considered an explanation for the result in this city. The cry of色ism was raised. An investigation made for the purpose of ascertaining what the total colored registration was shows that it amounts to just 5,000. On the eve of the election, after the books were closed, the United States Supervisors canvassed the city. The precinct canvassers of the Republican City Committee also went over the books. The books in the hands of the supervisors exact copies of those used at the polls on election day show that just 5,000 colored registrations, instead of 15,000, as has been repeatedly claimed by the Democratic managers. Unquestionably an attempt was made to register colored men fraudulently. In fact, nearly two hundred and fifty improper registrations were discovered. One committee man boasted that he alone had registered nearly eight hundred. As soon as the first evidence of the fraud was discovered the Republicans called a meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners. The Board met, but the police did not arrive until the close of the registration, and the result shows that it was effective. The present colored registration is not out of proportion with the total vote.

TO-NIGHT'S PARADE.

Sixty-Eight Republican Clubs Invited to Take Places in Line.

The Republican clubs of the city, organized in four divisions and under the command of Grand Marshal John McFall, will parade the streets to-night if the weather permits. One division will include all the Republican clubs in the Tenth Congressional District, another in the state of the Missouri Congressional District, a third of the Eighth Congressional District, and a fourth the colored clubs of the city.

The band and four companies of the Broadway side Franklin avenue, will be in the first and third divisions, which come up from Brown and Franklin avenues. The line will pass in review before the Grand Marshal and his corps.

There are sixty-eight Republican clubs in this city. Invitations have been extended to each of them.

The Abraham Lincoln Club and Brown Club of the Twenty-second Ward will assemble in the Sheridan Exchange this evening at 7 o'clock to participate in the procession.

The Central Republican Club of the First Ward will meet this evening at 7 o'clock at its headquarters, 614 Market street, to take part in the parade.

THE SENATORSHIP.

Already the Subject of Discussion Among the State Politicians.

The presence of Senator Vest and Governor Francis in the city has revived the discussion of the Senatorial succession. A great many politicians are of the opinion that Gov. Francis will be a candidate in 1890 against Senator Vest. Many of the State politicians are convinced that the Senator's reputation for blundering expressions will retain him from official life. The experience of Gov. Francis in Florida is not a stepping stone to the Senatorial chair. John S. Phelps was almost elected to the House of Representatives at Washington for eighteen years. He twice led the opposition in the Senate. He was elected Governor by a majority of 50,000. After two years of a brilliant administration he made a return to the Senate. He was re-elected with apparently better claims than any other man in the State. He received eleven votes.

The Missouri Congressional delegation has several aspirants for the Senatorial. Considering the entrance of a new candidate for Senatorial honors. There are several names in the place besides the Congressmen mentioned.

NOT SO VALUABLE.

Certificates of Membership in the Hendricks Association Go Down Several Points.

The projectors of the Hendricks Association have adopted an unlucky time for pruning its membership list. It was suggested some time ago that all delinquents be dropped from the rolls. Then the association had a big pull on the local offices. Nearly 90 per cent of the stockholders were members of the association in which went as a recommendation. The party lost eight local offices on the 6th inst. The association is not particularly strong with the exception of the spring time. The circumstances make certificates of membership of little value. The association will drop to-night the resolution to drop all members in default of payment. The suit is in the hands of James H. Daniels, who has been Superintendent of Street Reconstruction in the Second Ward. He will spend the winter in the City, where he will spend the winter. A son at that place is local Superintendent of the First Ward.

Joseph Dohmen has entered suit against F. W. Koch, late constable of the Tenth District and his bondsmen to recover $50, which he paid before the latter paid to Daniels.

The lucky candidate will be the one who has a large number of members are delinquent.

The association will accordingly hold the place until the spring for which its total pay will be three times.

Patriotism in the Twenty-Fourth Ward. To-morrow evening Sheriff-elect John H. Polk will resign his seat in the House of Delegates, where he now represents the Twenty-fourth Ward. It is the duty of the Mayor to call a special election to fill the seat before the later part of December. The lucky candidate will be the one who has a large number of members are delinquent.

The association will accordingly hold the place until the spring for which its total pay will be three times.

Five candidates have already been mentioned for the place. The J. Ward Daniel, Frank Lowry, and Thomas Williams, a relative of the present incumbent. A guard has already been organized for one of the candidates to nominate him by adopting his name. The contest for the $50 premium will be spirited.

The Begged Ballots.

Some of the defeated Democratic candidates are advancing the claim that thousands of legal Democratic voters were disfranchised by the refusal of the judges of election to accept their ballots because their names did not appear on Recorder Williams' new register. It is in all probability true that which ballot was rejected a minute was made by the judges, and the ballots were not accepted. The ballot envelopes provided for that purpose.

Recorder Williams stated to a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning that he did not know what the result was because there were not a total of three hundred rejected ballots in the entire city in the last election. United States supervisor Walker had a number of them.

The Council Committee having under consideration the nomination of Col. George W. Anderson, for Judge of the Second District Police Court, will report to-morrow. The friends of the appointee hope to see the confirmation of him. Col. Anderson is one of the oldest members of the Missouri bar and has had the united support of the lawyers present. The appointment is for a position which the Mayor has appointed him. The committee having the nomination under consideration is composed of Messrs. Frank, Metcalf and Bell.

Reorganizing. The St. Louis Single Tax League met last night at Elkslair Hall, Ninth and Franklin Avenue, and adjourned sine die. The League is formed for the campaign which just opened.

The attendance at the weekly meetings increased so steadily that it has been decided to form a new society to be called the People's Tax League. The League is to be held next Sunday evening a draft of a constitution will be submitted by the League to the State Legislature.

An investigation made for the purpose of ascertaining what the total colored registration was shows that it amounts to just 5,000. On the eve of the election, after the books were closed, the United States Supervisors canvassed the city. The precinct canvassers of the Republican City Committee also went over the books. The books in the hands of the supervisors exact copies of those used at the polls on election day show that just 5,000 colored registrations, instead of 15,000, as has been repeatedly claimed by the Democratic managers.

One committee man boasted that he alone had registered nearly eight hundred. As soon as the first evidence of the fraud was discovered the police did not arrive until the close of the registration, and the result shows that it was effective. The present colored registration is not out of proportion with the total vote.

Political Notes.

The Democratic City Committee will meet Wednesday evening.

Col. John Gondard, of Howard County, candidate for the position of Warden of the Penitentiary, and Secretary John Seerce of the State Democratic Committee, were callers at the Mayor's office to-day.

TOO MELANCHOLY TO LIVE.

Mrs. Gondard, a young French woman, committed suicide at Youngstown, O.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., early this morning Mrs. Gondard, a French governess, committed suicide at the residence of the well-known iron manufacturer, Henry O. Bonnell, on Wick Avenue. She arrived in Youngstown ten days ago from New York and soon after showed symptoms of melancholy. Yesterday she was writing letters to friends in New York, telling them of her misfortunes, and when she turned to her bed, she lay down and died.

"There seems to have been no decrease in the Democratic vote, but an increase of the Republican vote. Where did that come from?"

"This was the cleanest cut election that I ever saw," he said.

"What do you think of politics?" he was asked.

"Politics? Oh, politics are all over! There are no more now."

"What do you think was the cause of Cleveland's defeat?"

"There were several causes that were pantent, bringing about Harrison's election.

One of the principal ones was the Eastern financial policy of the present Administration. The people all over the country are dissatisfied with it. We are here supporting the administration in lending $60,000,000 to the Eastern banks without interest, while they have loaned it out at high rates of interest.

West Granite was almost the only stock that showed an advance. It opened at $14 bid, but none was disposed of until $24 had been offered, when 200 shares were disposed of.

From this point the stock rose sharply under a good demand; 300 shares brought $25; at $26 700 shares were sold, and 100 more changed hands at $26. A slight decline followed, the stock dropping to $25, at which point the fall was checked by purchases aggregating 1,000 shares.

Black Oak to-day reached a lower point than it has touched for some time past. The market opened at 40 asked, 38 bid, and was off to the low watermark of 35. At 35 100 shares changed hands, 300 shares brought $34, 500 were sold at $35, and the stock was off again to 34. It closed at 35 bid, that amount being offered for all that would be sold. The market was very quiet.

"The vote of the miners is the most interesting thing in it. The vote of the

PROHIBITION AND LABOR

and all of those minor parties was decreased, and it swelled the vote of the two great parties. The decent element of the country voted, too, and that is a subject for congratulation. You can see it jumping through a window, striking a flag-stone fifty feet below, and dying with an hour glass always open, but in a dirge, mid-throbbing contest the decent voter says, "I will have nothing to do with it." The American people are tired of contests like the campaign of 1884. That you know is Chinese warfare, by the American people ever saw. It was a square fight between the Democratic and Republican parties, and the side-shows had little interest in it. The vote of the administration in lending $60,000,000 to the Eastern banks without interest, while they have loaned it out at high rates of interest.

The crowd that thronged our store all day Saturday. What an army of pleased buyers—it's strange so many bundles make so small an impression on the stock.

Now that we've got the people in—we can let the secret out.

Our problem is ciphered out—we shall make no money; we didn't expect to. We're successful, though.

We made an honest, honor-bright cut in prices.

Ready-Made and Made-to-Measure—holding none back. Did it take nerve? Yes.

It didn't matter that we had nothing but new goods.

It didn't matter that it was Wanamaker & Brown Clothing at cost, and service in fitting you thrown in.

It didn't matter that it was rolling two hours of work into one and advertising bills up—enormously for us.

Sell the goods—was the imperative order.

And we're doing it. Nobody quarreling with our prices.

We can't wait till the frost is out of the ground—that half million too much'll not let us; that half million must go.

All questions about the superiority of the Wanamaker & Brown

Make of Clothing are referred to the people for their verdict.

Bring it back if you buy—and wish you hadn't.

You'll save too many dollars to do that.

SENATE MANDERSON'S VIEWS ON THE RE-CENT CAMPAIGN.

Financial Policy of the Administration a Potent Factor in Its Defeat—The Mills Bill a Political Bill—Old Slaughter-House Compared With Dressed Beef Establishments—Oleomargarine.

S. ENATOR MANDERSON of Ohio arrived in the city this morning. He is a member of the Senate Committee appointed to investigate the dressed beef monopoly, and he is here to attend the meetings of the committee.

Mr. Fairley, the retail grocer on Franklin Avenue, near Ninth street, made an assignment this morning for the benefit of his creditors to John E. Vogel, the real estate broker and financier on Chestnut street at No. 214. Fairley succeeded P. O'Connor in the business and is the son of James O'Connor, who is a citizen of the city.

His stock is worth about $30,000, the main part of which is invested in real estate, and his house on Tenth street, near Monroe, is the largest in the neighborhood. His wife, who was mortgaged heavily, one piece of which is $15,000, is owned by one of his creditors, Mr. Evans and Van Dusen.

The indications for twenty-four hours, commencing at 3 p. m. to-day, for Missouri are: Colder, fair weather; northerly winds.

The British mind has ceased to be agitated over the annexation of Canada, and is in a flurry over the subjugation of British lords and commoners by the American girl.

The official returns leave PATRICK BRENNAN the only survivor of the Democratic Thermopylae. If "Our Daddy" consents to live Sparta is dead and the old Greek spirit is frozen in his veins.

Boss QUAY is said to be suffering from hereditary consumption. This may be true, but we feel justified in remarking that there was no evidence of weakness in the way the Pennsylvania politician handled the Republican campaign. He is the liveliest consumptive in this country.

The Globe-Democrat has had to apologize for publishing the "Scratch Franks" advertisement, the Republic has finally tried to apologize for its bogus election news, but the Post-Dispatch has nothing to apologize for. We do not even apologize for our leniency in handling the Koester's Hotel Conspiracy.

SECRETARY OF STATE MCGRATH calls the constitutional requirement that law-makers shall be tax-payers a "fraud." Mr. MCGRATH has consistently acted on the theory that the constitutional provision requiring assessments for taxation to be equal was a "fraud," and his ideas on the relative questions of fraud and honesty were further illustrated when he awarded the stationery contracts on unbalanced bids. The relegation of Mr. MCGRATH to innocuous desuetude in private life was one of the most intelligent acts of the recent Democratic State convention.

The SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH yesterday contained 56 columns of advertising and 112 columns of reading matter. Each column of reading matter in the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH contains 6,000 ems of type, making 70,000 ems of reading matter in the paper. The Sunday Waste Basket contained 71 columns of alleged advertising and 97 columns of unreadable matter. Each column of the Waste Basket foots up 5,000 ems of type, making 50,000 ems of type. In other words the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH gave its readers 40 per cent more reading for their nickel than was to be found in the Sunday Waste Basket.

The Globe-Democrat this morning calls attention to the small Democratic plurality in Missouri as an evidence that the State might have been carried by the Republicans "had they really known their strength." The powerful influence of the Globe-Democrat is certainly worth a great deal in a State contest, and this influence was for many weeks given to the support of the Democratic candidate, who was presented to the people not merely as a foregone conclusion, but as the chiefest among ten thousand and the one altogether lovely candidate. Is it exaggerating the influence of our esteemed contemporary to say that the Globe-Democrat saved Missouri for Democracy?

The fact that the POST-DISPATCH Christmas Tree Fund has so soon passed the five-hundred-dollar turning-point shows how charity abideth in the hearts of St. Louis children. They are taking hold of this Christmas Tree for the children of the destitute as if the spirit of Tiny Tim animated the nursery of every well-to-do household and glowed in every school-room of the city. We do not doubt if and confidently expect that the success of this charity will not only bring joy and hope to thousands of poor and friendless children, but prove a pleasant memory and a life-long blessing to many thousands who will learn from it that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

The editor of the Waste Basket this morning in his attempt to explain his bogus news of the day after the election says that "owing to his immense edition" he was compelled to go to press with his supplemental sheet at 10 p. m. His bogus news was printed on the first and second pages of the main section of the paper which were dated at 3:30 and 4:30 a. m., and which vouched thereby for the lateness of the return they contained.

The editor of the Republic declares that his first edition went to press at 12 o'clock and in the first edition was a statement that it went to press at 8 a. m. This is proof of double lying, first in the edition to mislead the public and next in the explanation of the editor's lie to deceive the public and exonerate himself.

But whether the paper went to press at 10 p. m., 12 m., 3 a. m. or 4:30 a. m. it was a tissue of false claims, misleading statements and brazen falsehoods. So gross and indefensible are they that in the light of the facts known then and confirmed since it is a question whether idiocy or knavishness most predominates in their make-up.

These are the facts, and, in view of them, the apology and explanation of the editor of the Republic are worse than the editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The immense edition required to meet the demand that morning rendered it necessary to go to press at 10 p. m. The paper, however, did not go to press until 12 o'clock, and at that hour, as everyone who read the bulletin knows, the figures indicated a sweeping Democratic victory in all the doubtful States. The fast mail edition, which usually contains news received up to 12:30 o'clock, had to go to press at 10 o'clock, and at that hour also the indications of a Democratic victory were most encouraging. That edition, and the special train edition which was printed four hours later, contained news which was favorable to the Post-Dispatch. The best answer to the much-discussed question as to the place and mission of the modern newspaper and particularly the Sunday newspaper was furnished yesterday by the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH.

It was a perfect reflex of the thought and spirit of the times, as it was a thorough chronicle of the events of the world. While narrating correctly, fully and readably every item of news within the range of mail and telegraph facilities, it did not neglect the literary and social side of life, but satisfied the intellectual demands of its readers. There was news for all, and something else for all tastes, conditions and ages in its 112 columns of reading matter.

Granting that the rambunctious press of the Republic made it necessary to send the supplement to press at 10 o'clock, what returns were in at that time did not indicate a Democratic victory and certainly did not warrant printing an advance account of a special train sent out "to carry the authentic news of Democracy's glorious victory" and adorned with banners bearing the following inscriptions:

ILLINOIS REDEEMED AND THE GREAT WEST TO THE FRONT.
JIM ELAINE ETERNALLY SHELVED.
THE ST. LOUIS "REPUBLIC" BRINGS GLAD TIDINGS TO THE DEMOCRACY!

GROVER CLEVELAND FOUR YEARS MORE! THE PEOPLE TRIUMPH OVER MONOPOLY!

CLEVELAND AND THURMAN! DEMOCRACY VINCULATED! TRUSTEES AND MONOPOLIES DEFEATED!

This is the kind of stuff which was prepared in advance and was sent out with the special train edition, which is admitted to be the second edition of the paper, and printed at a time when the defeat of Democracy was almost certainly known. It was the deliberate attempt of either the fool or the knave, or both, to mislead the people.

But the regular edition of the Republic of Wednesday morning, November 7, is the best proof of the editor's mendacity. The first page of that edition contains the following caption:

FIRST EDITION.
S. A. M.
VICTORY.

THE UNDERRIDDEN DEMOCRAT SWEEP THE COUNTRY LIKE A TIDAL WAVE.

NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY, CONNECTICUT AND INDIANA SWING INTO THE JEFFERSONIAN RANKS.

ILLINOIS, WISCONSIN AND MICHIGAN SEE THE ERROR OF THEIR PAST WAYS.

AN OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR CLEVELAND AND THURMAN ALL ALONG THE LINE.

FRANCIS GOES OVER THE GRAND OLD STATE OF MISSOURI LIKE A TORNADO.

PALMER DETHROTS FIFER'S HOPE OF MOVING TO THE STATE CAPITAL.

REPUBLICAN PARTIES BURNED.

On the second page appears the following caption:

MISSOURI.

SEE NAILS HER COLORES TO THE MASTHEAD AND WINS THE FIGHT.

CLEVELAND WILL HAVE AN INCREASED MAJORITY AND FRANCIS WILL CROWD HIM HARD.

THE WHOLE STATE TICKETS A SWEEPING VICTORY, WITH INCREASED MAJORITIES.

ENOUGH GLORY FOR A DAY.

ILLINOIS.

INDICATIONS THAT PALMER HAS HAMMERED HIS WAY TO THE GOVERNORSHIP.

A SPLENDID RESULT OF ONE OF THE GRANDEST CAMPAIGNS ON RECORD.

ONE OF THE ROCKS OF REPUBLICANISM SHAKEN FROM ITS FOUNDATION.

A FIGHT WELL WON.

On the sixth page of the same edition are the returns from the city, showing tremendous Republican gains and a large Republican majority, and in the headlines is the statement: "Indications that the Republicans have carried the city ticket by a small majority."

On the first page of the same edition accompanied by an immense Cleveland rooster and under the line: "Third edition; 4:30 a. m." and a caption which is headed "In Doubt" occurs the headlines:

NEW JERSEY CERTAINLY AND INDIANA PROBABLY IN THE DEMOCRATIC COLUMN.

ILLINOIS, WISCONSIN AND CALIFORNIA LIKELY TO SWING INTO THE JEFFERSONIAN LINE.

THE RESULT IN MISSOURI SHOWS THAT SHE STANDS BY HER COLORES.

PALMER SPOILS FIFER'S HOPES OF MOVING TO THE STATE CAPITAL.

This is the first intimation of anything like the truth, and at the time when it was placed at the head of this edition the result was practically settled in every newspaper office in the country and in the minds of all sensible men who had read the available returns.

The editor of the Republic declares that his first edition went to press at 12 o'clock and in the first edition was a statement that it went to press at 8 a. m. This is proof of double lying, first in the edition to mislead the public and next in the explanation of the editor's lie to deceive the public and exonerate himself.

But this was not the worst of the fraud. The "immense edition" consisted mainly of some 20,000 copies marked "Complimentary" and sent free. Any man who consents to pay for the Waste Basket deserves all he gets, but it is rather hard on respectable people who would not buy the sheet to be swindled by false news in a presentation copy.

A SELF-EXPOSED FRAUD.

The crazy editor of the Republic is a silly and false attempt to clear his paper of the charge of misleading its readers as to the result of the recent elections on the day following election day proves himself both a fool and a knave. He states in an editorial this morning:

THEY ARE WELL-KNOWN

THE ADVENTURES OF MESSRS. RAMSEY AND BROWNING OF LOUISVILLE.

They Start Out to Visit a Young Lady in New Albany and Wind Up in the Station-House—A Real Mean Trick—Boston Base Ball Stock All Bought Up—Sporting News and Notes.

Coincident and interwoven with the history of the American Association are the many breaks and sayings of Don Pedro Gladstar Browning, the Louisville team's Cincinnati Enquirer. One of those funny affairs with which he was ever connected occurred in the fall of 1887, and so far as the writer is aware has never seen the light of day in print.

Just after the season closed the "Gladstar" and Tom Ramsey decided that they would have one more "little old time" before they separated for the winter. So Peter held himself to a livery stable, and as the twin intended to call on a blonde young lady in the course of their drive, he told the horses at the barn to stand and put in a white horse. As the horses did not know the trick, Browning, who strongly objected to the white horse, but Peter was the man that the stable boy had to look to for the stuff, so the white horse was put in.

THE YOUNG LADY

Lived across the river over in New Albany, but Pete said they had better get their load on the Kentucky side, because Indiana tangle-foot always made him see large animals, while the blue grass land reduced the size of the carnivores very materially. The Gladstar remarked that he did not mind a little bit of carrying, but when it came to lions, tigers, elephants, and such things, he must draw the line.

As Thomas Toad was not particular as long as the bug-julie took the skin off his throat going down, they began operations at once. By the time they struck the river they were both willing to run for President. Before crossing they concluded to stop for just one more. Now it happened that Mike Walsh, who formerly managed the Louisville Club, and who, of course knew both Pete and Thomas Toad well, was crossing down street just behind the two hitched horses, and stopped inside.

Mike is a fancy painter in one of the Louisville car shops, and had a bucket of red paint in one hand and another of green paint in the other. Mike looked at the old white equine, whose protruding ribs appealed to his sympathetic nature. Then he looked into the saloon, where Pete and Tom were complimenting each other on being the best center-fielder and the best pitcher in the world. Then he went up to the horse with his paint. He painted the horse and the dog down broadly and smoothly over the first rib. Then he took the green brush and treated the second rib in a similar manner. Then came the red brush again, and then the green alternately, until each rib stood out in great shape.

RED AND GREEN.

With paint splashed. As Pete and Tom still tarried, Mike adorned the other side of the animal in the same way. He intended to give the car a coat also, but the two intrepid ball players had decided to give up their sour mash for their sweet mash over the river.

Mike hurried around the corner before they saw a glimpse of him. Now, Mike had a humanitarian motive in decorating the horse. He thought that the players would be ashamed to drive him on account of his gaudy appearance, and would take him back to the stable. What was his astonishment, then, to see them unhitch the horse and climb into the buggy without ever noticing the transformation. "My, what a lot of peaches they have on!" said Mike to himself. He started up to them and, riding round their white green and red horses like a bull, he could decide they whipped up and sailed away. It was not until they reached New Albany that they turned back. There they turned into the main street the half dozen boys and dogs which had been following the horses, and, as the crowd of foxes passed, swelled into a dozen, then into fifty, then into a hundred, until by the time they drew up to the YOUNG LADY'S HOUSE in whose honor the white horse had been decorated was a mob of fifty five hundred delights. And there, in New Albany, Pete and Tom were highly flattered.

"Yeah," said Pete, "they all know me."

"Yes, they all know us," remarked Pete, condescendingly, as the crowd grew larger and larger.

On reaching the young lady's mansion the two beheaded ball tossers staggered up the steps to the front door and began pulling the bell. White raising the door to open, turned and began lifting their hats to the girl, hoping in their hearts that the young lady would come out. They were very well known and popular they were. Their hopes were gratified. The young lady hastened to the cause, and came to the door. She had just strength enough to tell the steward to go for the police, and fell over in a fit. When she recovered she was told to go to the police station to meet her husband. Pete and Tom were bundled into it. A copper sat in the rear end of the wagon, holding a little dog, leading the striped horse. A howling mob followed.

Pete and Tom never found out until the next morning what had become of their fares they bought a ticket for the train although the day was warm, and drove sorrowfully back to Louisville.

Boston's Stock.

To Teletypes to the Post-Dispatch. BOSTON, November 19.—The Boston management succeeded in acquiring to-day the only outstanding share of stock of the Boston Base Ball corporation. It belonged to Mr. George F. Pease, Messrs. Sodan, Conant and Billings are now entitled to the stock. Ed Tate has been released by the Boston.

Stock Ball Chat.

Tom Brown of the Boston goes to Australia in Mike's place.

Steve Toolie, the old Brooklyn pitcher, says that he will probably sign with the Toronto Club next season.

The Boston is admitting Detroit, Utica and Toledo is now being considered by the International clubs through correspondence.

Keese seemed to sign up the reason why the Boston team did so much better under Ewing than under W. H. E. He says that Ward was in command of the club. It was no easy task for Ward to bring the team under such circumstances. No wonder, too, that Ward wants to get away from New York.

The Indians will wear something odd in the way of a uniform this season. When President Stern was in New York during the winter's series he was much pleased with the black and white stripes of the Indians, and announces that he will get a similar outfit for the local club next season. The boys will wear blue and white uniform with red trimmings.

There is not the great rush for young blood now, there was last season about this time, though the young men have been picked up in the strong major leagues and announced that they will get a similar outfit for the local club next season. The boys will wear blue and white uniform with red trimmings.

Although the articles for agreement drawn up by the Boston management provide for a three miles race on the Paranaiba course December 1 there will be very little racing done. The Indians and the Bostonians will play in the country.

McPhee of the Cincinnati has probably been one of the best conditioned work horses in the country. He entered the Cincinnati gymnasium for practice in March, 1888.

He played the season with the Cincinnati and was the best player on the team. His head made his appearance kept him in the few games Gunnin caught him last year and exceedingly effective. Gunnin backed him up and the Indians won.

There are now twenty-one trotters that have made records of 315 or better, as follows:

—Exchange.

Mique O'Brien is said to be the originator of "the scoop," but the Sporting Life says: "One account of the slang phrase 'the scoop' is that it first received its popularity at the time of the Civil War." The men between the New York and California. The members of the Chicago Club made their appearance in full-dress suits. They were to play in Chicago, suffered an ignominious defeat by the score of 15 to 9, whereupon somebody remarked that the game was a "washout." The players spread through the crowd like wildfire; and the cranks kept it up for many days after.

Charles N. Morris of Cincinnati has a new scheme of improving the batting next season. He has invented an oval-shaped bat of the same weight and size as the regular bat. Mr. Morris is of the opinion that should his bat be adopted by the Association and League it would increase the batting by at least 20 per cent.

There is a scheme at Yale to purchase tennis courts. The courts at the field are so crowded and so far away that many men are kept from playing who otherwise would be able to get good deal of recreation and exercise in pursuit of the popular game. It is estimated that $2,000 would be required to build the courts, which would meet with the heartiest support from the college men.

The人造的Chicago Stable racetrack correspondent returned at 8 o'clock last night from a drive of nearly eight miles in the country to the handsome residence of Judge A. W. Rucker. In the hallway and on the mantelpieces were numerous tokens of friendship from Senator Blackburn to Judge Rucker. The threats made by Senator Blackburn to the Post-Dispatch.
